Dear Researcher,

Although doing research can be challenging, it makes it exciting to share your work and experiences with others. This is where the International Student Congress of (bio)Medical Sciences (ISCOMS) comes in. ISCOMS is a platform for international student research exchange. As a researcher you can submit your abstract and, if selected, you may present your research in front of students from all over the world and various professors.

The conference has a great scientific and social programme. The scientific programme includes keynote lectures, workshops in which you can actively participate and student research presentations. Before the conference there is a pre-course and immediately after the conference we offer the ISCOMS Research Fellowships (IRF). The IRF is a challenging two week programme in which a selected group participates in research at one of the Research Institutes of the University Medical Centre Groningen (UMCG).
The social programme is a great opportunity to meet other students, exchange your research ideas, broaden your scientific social network and experience the Dutch culture and our beautiful city of Groningen.
Furthermore, ISCOMS is a challenging conference that gives presenting participants the chance to win prizes for visiting other medical conferences.

Submitting your abstract is the first step. An abstract is a short summary of your research with a maximum word count of 350 words. Note; exceeding this amount of 350 words immediately withdraws you from the selection procedure. Your abstract should have the following headings: Introduction, Materials & Methods, Results, Discussion and Conclusion and Keywords. You can submit your abstract on our website (www.iscoms.com) from the 15th of November until the 15th of February. If your abstract suffices our requirements it can be presented as a poster session, oral session or plenary session.

Three weeks after the abstract deadline, you will hear whether you have been selected or not. Soon after the selection procedure, the travel grants will be distributed under presenting participants.

For more information please visit our website: www.iscoms.com or feel free to contact us.

On behalf of the ISCOMS organisation we wish you the best of luck with your further research and with submitting your abstracts.

We hope to see you as a presenter during the 20th International Student Congress of (bio)Medical Sciences.

Kind regards,

On behalf of ISCOMS,

The International Contacts Committee 2013
